Kiwanis Club Hears Address on War Nations

"Twelve Lears After," was the topic of an address given on Wednesday before members of the Redwood City Kiwanis club by the Rev. Ira W. Barnett, D. D., of Burlingame. In his talk Dr. Barnett told of studies of the national attitude of European countries made by him as a member of a party which visited Europe to study conditions there after the war.

There never can be universal peace, he stated, until there is a universal understanding of the temperaments of the various countries of the world, and of their outlook upon events. This talk was interestingly and amusingly illustrated with anecdotes and references, and was listened to with interest by the Kiwanians.

The chairman of the meeting was Carl Stoner, vice-president of the club. Dr. Barnett is pastor of the Presbyterian church of Burlingame, and has been making his home in that city for the past five months. He was for 10 years a member of the Riverside Kiwanis club.

After presenting the gold president's button to Norbert Lambert, Wesley Haydock, the first president of the Yomecans, placed a past-presidents button in Ed Greeley's lapel and two songs especially written for the occasion were sung in honor of both the incoming and the out-going president. TWO MEN INJURED IN HIGHWAY AUTO CRASH

Men Working On Parked Car Injured When Another Machine Swerved Into Their Car; One May Lose Leg As Result of Injuries; Both Cars Wrecked

Two men were seriously injured and two cars wrecked in a crash on the highway near Manzanita street shortly before 11 o'clock Wednesday night. The crash occured while Harry Thorne, of 1028 Hudson street, Redwood City, and James Russell, who was with him, had parked their car off the side of the highway near the intersection of Manzanita street, and were trying to clear the gasoline line, which has become stopped up.

Thorne was standing in front of his car cranking it; Russell was standing on the running board. A car driven north on El Camino Real by Mike Herzo, 3042 16th street San Francisco, and in which Gregory Busco was riding, swerved suddenly and crashed into Thorne's car. The machine struck Thorne and threw him against his own car. Then, striking, the car, it turned it completely around. Russell was thrown off onto his head.

Officers Fitzgerald and Snider of Redwood City police investigated the crash and called Dr. D. F. Brown to attend the injured men. It was found that Thorne was the most seriously injured. The femoral artery of his left leg was severed and the leg badly gashed both above and below the knee. It may have to be amputated. He also suffered bruises and concusions.

Russell suffered a bump on the head which may have caused a fractured skull. He is being observed for evidence of a fracture or of concussion of the brain.

The investigating officers were told by Thorne and Russell that Herzo's car swerved into them. Herzo and Busco claimed that a car came out of Manzanita street and that in order to avoid hitting it Herzo had put on the brakes and had skidded into the parked machine. The officers could find no evidence of skid marks on the highway. The accident was witnessed by Bob Neil of this city, and by Eugene Pfafflin, of Palo Alto.

Both cars were badly damaged, and were removed to the Sequoia garage. The inpured men, after first aid treatment had been given, were taken to the Community hospital.

Mystery Truck Hit on Tracks At San Carlos

Mystery last night surrounded wrecking of a light truck on the right of way of the Southern Pacific railway at San Carlos. The truck was apparently struck by a south-bound train, but an examination of the machine showed that the glass had not been broken, and that even the windshield was intact. The car was, however, turned over and was in a ditch beside the track.

Chief of Police Ed Wheeler, of the San Carlos police department enquired who was the driver of the machine, but no one had seen the driver. Nor could any trace of a registration card be located, and there were no license plates on the machine

Near the car, and apparently fallen from it, was a large galvanized iron tank, capable of holding at least 100 gallon.

It was conjectured that the car, which appeared to be new, was to have been used in the illicit transportation of liquor; the tank in that case being covered over in the bed of the truck. The truck was removed to a garage, and Chief of Police Wheeler is attempting to locate the owner or driver.

HARBOR DREDGING SEEN AS BEGINNING OF ERA OF DEVELOPMENT HERE

Government Agrees to Appropriate Fund for Deepening Creek to Minimum Depth of Twenty Feet—Will provide Facilities for Docking Ships Here

Redwood harbor will be dredged to a minimum depth of 20 feet through the aid of the Federal government. Announcement to this effect was made by the War Department this week. The sum of $26,000 has been alloted by the Federal government for the purpose of dredging Redwood creek to permit the entrance of large ships. The allotment of funds for this purpose is contingent upon the pledging by the owners of property in the harbor of a similar amount.

There are fifteen property owners affected, and it is understood that practically every one of these has signified his willingness to stand a part of the cost of the deepening operations.

The project will give employment to between thirty and forty men for a period of six months.

The deepening of the local harbor will also mean a great deal to Redwood City as it will make it possible for much larger ships to dock here that are unable to reach the wharf at the present time. The deepening will be carried up to the city's municipal harbor past the wharf of the Pacific Portland Cement Company.

The improvement of the harbor is only the first of the improvements contemplated for the harbor here. With the coming of the Western Pacific railway and a number of manufacturing plants, which are awaiting final action by the government upon that railway's application for a peninsula line, the industrial section of Redwood City appears to be due for an unprecedent-growth.

Speaking recently concerning the proposed development of the port here Howard Wood, secretary-manager of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce said:

"Should the Western Pacific win case to build to Redwood City and San Francisco, the question of how great will be the benefit to Redwood City will depend somewhat upon our own activity in getting properly ready for development. Immediately north of us, and in fact joining our own harbor and industrial lands, are 4,900 acres of flat industrial land owned by the project known as Port San Francisco. Recently the owners of this project have carried forward a great deal of development, largely with the thought of the utility of these lands with the coming of the Western Pacific to the peninsula. These lands and this project properly tie in with the lands and similar port development of Redwood City water frontage and channels. The problem is similar for the entire waterfront from Belmont south to Palo Alto. Unification of water front lands into one central plan of development might be orderly and economical, that proper government aid might be secured for harbor work, that the activity between the new railroad endeavors and private owners of industrial lands might be handled in a business like way, the advantage of the new railroad facilities, all make it desirable that one central plan of port and industrial development might be worked out.

"The Redwood City Chamber of Commerce has already taken steps to meet with officials of the Western Pacific, Great Northern, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railways, in the event that the Western Pacific decision is favorable and ask consideration for plan of development which it is believed would be advantageous to both railroads and communities in this vicinity. In these steps, and in all development and promotion work for the community, the Chamber has had and continues to have the whole-hearted consideration and interest of the city government. The city manager and the manager of the Chamber of Commerce, work and confer together on many projects, and the relations between the city council and the board of directors of the Chamber is close, harmonious and resultful. It is a condition which should maintain, and one which the Chamber feels is producing, and will continue to produce, good results for Redwood City.

"The immediate success of the Yacht Harbor is an augury of what can logically be expected to happen when Redwood City finds itself able to go ahead with commercial port development."

Having a natural harbor only one mile from the center of the city and with the coming of the Western Pacific Railroad this year, Redwood City looks forward to a great industrial future. It is predicted that it will become the railway gateway of four trans-continental railroads It is located on the main line of the Souhern Pacific Co. The Dumbarton bridge across lower San Francisco bay, completed several years ago at a cost of $2,000,000, and the San Francisco Bay Bridge Co's span between San Mateo and Hayward, constructed at a cost of over $10,000,000, are both within a few minutes ride of Redwood City, giving the city a direct route into the great San Joaquin valley.

The New Governor

By D. E. O'KEEFE

James Rolph is now the twenty-seventh governor of California. The unusual acclaim that ushered him into office last Tuesday at Sacramento, and the spontaneous outburst of applause that greeted him from the people of California on his inauguration stamp him as the most popular and outstanding citizen of the state. Never before in the history of California was such an ovation given a governor. The colorful celebration which attended the induction of the new governor into office will long be remembered by the commonwealth. The big event revived an old Spanish custom that was looked forward to by the early Californians when the new governor came from Mexico to be installed at the historic town of Monterey. The celebration would continue for four days, when the ancient town would put on its gayest raiments. Care was thrown to the four winds and all would be merry during the gay occasion.

The welcome rain of last Monday did not dampen the ardor or enthusiasm of the people who were bent on paying homage to the new governor. Rolph was happy, for he knew that the greetings he received came from the hearts of the citizens of his beloved state who had followed his career from boyhood and watched his steady rise to distinction and honor by his strength of character, kindliness and honesty. They know he will make a splendid executive, colorful, able, honest and tolerant.

Rolph assumes the duties of governor with the confidence of the people of the state, who will cheerfully co-operate with him in the task that lies before him in bringing added prosperity and happiness to the state and in uniting all the people in the common cause of advancing and upbuilding the state's industries, and making it one of the great commonwealths of the country. We wish Mr. Rolph every success in his great work. We feel certain that he will make the best governor the state has ever had and will make California known to every citizen of the country.

The Great Compromise

For 140 years the United States constitution has stood, regarded both at home and abroad as one of the greatest human documents in existence. Yet the constitution was a compromise; a giving-in by various factions in a new government. In almost every part the constitution shows the effects of this compromise; and herein lies its strength and its permanence.

Had the constitution been framed by any of the factions which sought control of the government following the formative period would it be the constitution today? We believe not. It is beyond the wisdom of any man or set of men to devise a document which will successfully govern a nation at a period centuries later. But if the document is a successful compromise between and among the various forces which make up a nation, it will partake of the national qualities of that nation, and maybe expected to last as long as those qualities characterie that people.

It is to the credit of the people of the United States that the sterling qualities of the pioneer settlers are still so strong that the constitution as prepared by them is still applicable today. When respect for that constitution and for the law which it provides shall have waned to a point where it is no longer satisfactory to the people of this nation, then we may assume that the word "American," means something different from what it meant when the cornerstone of the nation was planted, and that the people of the United States have changed in spirit and quality.

Therefore, the constitution, being more characteristic of America than either the flag or the national anthem, should have the respect of every citizen. To maintain that respect for the document which forms not alone the backbone of our nation, but the gauge of our national qualities should be the duty and pride of every one who calls himself an American.

Important Discovery

We have just discovered where all the money has gone to. It is in the savings banks. A recent report shows that American people have more money in savings accounts than they have ever had before. We thought everybody was spending more than they were making, but it seems this was not the case. Now the problem is that of inducing those who have been saving to spend some of their hoarded weath.

A Good Appointment

By D. E. O'KEEFE

All the appointments thus far made by Governor James Rolph are most excellent. The men he has gathered around him to aid in his administration are men of ability and well known honesty. Among the outstanding sections is that of Dr. J. M. Toner as director of institutions. The doctor has for many years been active in the medical and business life of San Francisco where he was born. He stands high in his profession. Two years ago the people of San Francisco elected him to the board of supervisors, a position he resigned last week to assume the duties of his new place. Doctor Tones carries with him to his new duties an experience gained by hard work in his profession, in the political and business world. We bespeak success for him as diretor of institutions.

Advertise Liberally

Visit any live town and you will find that the merchants of the town are good advertisers. Not one or two of them, but every merchant of any consequence in the town is an advertiser.

As a resut of the combined advertising, the many good, well written advertisements filled with prices and good argument, there is attracted to the town a regular host of buyers who spend their money for the merchandise the merchants of the community have to sell.

A survey of the town will show that the advertising is not left to one or two merchants to bear the burden of the sales promotion, while a large number of free riders sit back and attempt to reap the reward of their fellows' enterprise.

Every one advertises.

Any community that has a group of good, live merchants who advertise with well written ads and back them up with the merchandise and modern merchandising methods is going to grow and prosper and business will continue to get better and better.

Judicious, liberal advertising is the surest insurance against slow business and town retrogression.—Renton Washington, News-Record.

Who Remembers?

We often wonder how many of you "oldtimers" around Redwood City can recall when we put shirts on over our head, when anybody could hitch up a horse, when there were no such things as wrist watches and a hired girl was lucky to get $2.50 a week. Or how many remember when boys collected cigarette pictures, when everybody had tonsils and kept 'em; when nobody had appendicitis and most everybody kept the Sabbath. Surely there must be a lot of folks around here who can remember when they carried a lantern on the dash-board of the spring wagon and drove it through mud, dirt or loose rock most of the time; when they slept on a straw tick and took a bath in the wash tub in the kitchen only on Saturday nights; or when women wore Mother Hubbards, when a brick covered with carpet served as a doorstop and when congress gaiters were the most stylish of shoes. But if you can remember any or all of these it isn't a sign that you are getting old. Its just a sign of a good memory.

Buy and Build Now

A "build now" and a "buy it now" campaign, no doubt, possesses salutary benefits for all communities. There can be no argument about the advantage of immediate purchases, whether of materials, merchandise or labor. Undoubtedly, also the present market is a consumer's market. The dollar has more purchasing power than it has had in many years. With lower prices prevailing in practically every line of business, the consumer or the builder may now effect some real economies. The present psychology of retrenchment must be broken down, if conditions are to be bettered, and this desired end can be realized by collective action. The best way to banish the depression bugaboo is to spend freely whenever genuine values are offered.

What Is a Successful Newspaper?

A newspaper to be successful must have a personality that attracts the reader. The newspaper that never take a positive stand on public questions has no personality. It is a weakling. It is an injury to the community. A paper to be successful must stand for something. It must stand for its home town and its upbuilding, even if it loses a few rings of its cash register.

No newspaper can mean anything to the advancement of your town that constantly white washes the acts of those who are trying their best to tear the town down. No newspaper can continue to be successful that straddles every public question and tries to befog the public mind by misrepresentation and platitude of words, which no one can interpret.

The Golden Rule works like gravitation.—Dole.

Love's Sacrifice

By Mildred Barbour

He stopped at the gate and glanced around quickly. He wondered what Sally would say when she saw him.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery leave home to seek their fortunes in New York.

Lois meets a young man whom she knew when she was a wealthy woman's secretary.

He and a chap named FRISBY show her and Sally little attention, but Lois' thoughts are chiefly on the problems of existence.

Lois finally gets a job with a firm of interior decorators. Sally struggles for a foothold in the movies. They have a hard time making both ends meet.

Sally enters hospital training, finally convinced that the films ha. no future for her.

Lois is absorbed i nher own work.

During her employer's illness, she is sent to the palatial residence of James Walton to make a preliminary report.

It also involves Lois in difficulties with Bert.

Lois is strongly attracted to Walton, who is much older than herself, and very rich and distinguished.

—She finds him very cold and domineering.

—He demands she give up her friendship with Sally.

Chapter 24

After an especially gay party she is assigned in an emergency to night duty.

She falls asleep while waiting for the special nurse to come, and the patient, in her delirium, rushes from the room and jumps from a window. By a miracle she escapes with minor injuries, but Sally's fate is sealed.

Sally falls in love with Dr. Randolph, who has no idea of her feeling for him.

This is too much for Sally... She again reserts to the use of drugs, and, while in a befuddled condition, tells Randolph she loves him.

Randolph lays the situation before Lois and asks her help.

An anonymous letter linking Lois's name with Dr. Dandolph's reaches James Walton. He tells her that he does not believe the charge, but warns her to avoid any conduct that might cause idle talk.

Chapter 40.

She is convinced that the letter came from Sally. The latter takes an overdose of drugs, in what Lois believes to be a fit remorse, and Lois and Randolph again go to her aid.

He amazes Lois by professing a liking for the doctor and urging that she ask him to their home. Bert visits Sally, whose conduct has terminated her employment in the doctor's office, and she tells him of Lois's marriage and adds that Lois is very unhappy.

She does not know that her husband resents her failure to aid him in realizing his social ambitions and is looking about for an excuse to get rid of her.

Chapter 47.

Spying

The house that Lois bought for Sally's home looked very peaceful under the late afternoon sun. Something about it gave James Walton a bit of a qualm. It made him think of the home he had left years ago to begin the struggle for success that still engrossed him. But he put that thought from his mind immediately. No use weakening che's resolution, he reflected.

He stopped at the gate and glanced around quickly. He wondered what Sally would say when she saw him. Then he hurried up the firm pathway that led to the little porch. Everything was as neat as a pin. That was uncoubtedly Lois's doing. Sally, he was sure, never took care of anything.

He rang the bell and waited, but there was no answer. He rang again, this time so hard that he heard the scund of the bell echoing through the house. Still no answer. He put his hand on the knob The door was unlocked. He pushed it open and entered a little hall, giving the bell a final punch as he did so

The living-room was unoccupied. But there were fresh flowers in the vases, and the fire was laid. Lois's taste was evident everywhere. The decorations and the errangement of the furniture revealed her touch.

As Walton looked about, he said to himself: "She didn't do all this merely to provide a home for Sally Todd. She uses the place herself — to entertain the people I've told her she must drop. Undoubtedly, she meets Dr. Randolph here, or that worthless Bert Todd. I'll soon find out. If she and Sally have had a row, Sally will be willing to talk. She's not the kind that has many scruples."

There was the sound of footsteps, and he turned about to see Sally standing in the doorway. The words of greeting died on his lips as he noticed how changed she was. He hadn't seen her since his marriage. Then she had been gay, happy-go-lucky. Now she was painfully thin and her color was gone. Her skin looked almost gray; her eyes were sullen and shadowed. She looked years older.

"Well?" She looksd listlessly at him waiting for him to speak. Then when he said nothing, she added: "Lois isn't here. She hasn't been here for a week, if that's any consolation to you."

The hostility in her tone was not lost on him. This was a situation that had to be handled.

"I heard that you were ill," he said, urging her toward a chair.

"I'll bet the news laid you out," said Sally, with a wry smile. She had reached the stage where she didn't care much what she said to anyone. And it was a great satisfaction to be able to talk back to James Walton. She'd always wanted to do it.

"I was very sorry to hear it," he replied, his mind going back to her statement that she hadn't seen Lois for a week. "Did you know," he went smoothly, "that Lois hasn't been any too well? That's why you haven't seen her."

"Oh, I thought she was mad at me," said Sally, in the same dull tone.

Walton smiled — the rare, winning smile that Lois had found so attractive during their courtship days. "That must be imagination on your part," he assured her. "She spoke of you this morning. I said I'd stop by and see how you were."

Sally looked her amezement. She just managed not to blurt out "Well, what's happened to you? I never knew you could be so human."

Walton read her thoughts as he sat there, smiling at her. He talked on, always bringing the conversation back to Lois and herself. And he spoke of Lois in a way that made him seem a most indulgent husband.

Into Sally's muddled brain there again began to creep the thought that perhaps she had misjudged him. Was the "old crab" not such a bad sort, after all? Was Lois fortunate in having him for a husband, in addition to all her other good luck?

The flame of resentment that had almost guttered during the last few days of physical exhaustion grew stronger. Then a new thought insinuated itself into her mind. Almost immediately she knew that it was not honest, but that realization did not make her reject it. She put it into words and repeated them over and over to herself to gain convistion. . . . Lois wasn't being square with this nice chap. He was kind and generous and gave her everything a woman could wish for, and she was in love with someone else.

Sally forgot that she was in no position to act as judge in matters where gratitude were concerned. She classified Lois as an ingrate, as well as a bad friend. And, before Walton left, she had convinced herself that they had at least one bond of interest — a legitimate grievance against Lois.

She wanted to talk to this newfound friend — she did talk, and Walton listened. Before he left, she had told him enough half-truths to make him believe that it would not be hard to make out a case against Lois.

Book Reveals Language Debt

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 6 (UP) —The debt of the English language to that of Ancient Greece is shown in a book recently completed by Dr. Perry W. Long of this city.

The book, entitled "The Greek element in the English Language," was begun by Dr. John Convers Smock, former state geogolist of New Jersey, at the beginning of the present century. Upon his death six years ago, Dr. Long took over the work.

The book contains 130,000 words in which there is some Greek element. But Dr. Long points out that in all there are nearly a million English words derived in part or in whole from the Greek. These are chiefly in the language of botany, medicine, archaeology, the church, phyilosophy, mineralogy, physics, music, zoology, and chemistry.

Chemistry alone has 490,000 words containing Greek elements Long says.

The chief purpose of the book is to provide initiators of scientific and other specialist nomenclature with a reference list indicating been used, in what fields, and how. what Greek terms already have

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 9 (UP)—A new year brings to California a new governor, a new state legislature, and a whole host of new state officials.

From a political viewpoint, the coming weeks are going to be extremely important. They will establish the relation of Governor James Rolph, Jr., to the 1931 state legislature, his attitude toward term appointments made by Governor Young before his retirement, and the outstanding issues before the legislature.

With the appointment of Raymond Leroy Haight, Los Angeles attorney, war veteran and trustee of the University of Southern California to the position of state corporation commissioner, Rolph has filled all the $10,000-a-year positions at his disposal.

Others holding jobs paying this salary are Rolland A. Vandegrift, state budget-maker who eventually be named director of finance; C. H. Purcell, state highway engineer, and Colonel Walter Garrison, director of public works.

Despite the warning by Rolph that he would ask the legislature to unseat all state officers now holding term appointments, making them serve " at the pleasure of the governor," Governor Young proceeded to fill all available vacancies before the inauguration.

He appointed H. B. Harris of Fresno and Fred G. Stevenot of Carson Hill, Calaveras county, as members of the state railroad commission, and reappointed William J. Carr to a full 6-year term. The positions pay $8,000 a year.

Harris moved to the railroad commission from the state highway commission, and also got a 6-year term, while Stevenot left his post as director of natural resources to fill Carr's unexpired term, lasting two years more. In order to accept the long term, it was necessary for Carr first to resign his unexpired term.

Following out the recommendations of his board of inquiry into the prizefight "racket" in California, Governor Young appointed an entirely new state boxing commission, composed of ex-service men. They are Robert Edgren of Pacific Grove and San Francisco, nationally-known cartoonist and sports writer; B. W. Gearhart, Fresno, state commander of the American Legion, and Dr. Harry Martin, Los Angeles physician.

These men fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of James Woods of San Francisco and term expirations of William H. Hanlon of Sacramento and Charles F. Traung of San Francisco.

Frank C. Sykes, member of the outgoing San Francisco harbor board, was appointed to the state board of prison directors, succeeding Judge C. E. McLaughlin of Sacramento, resigned on account of ill health. The names of Sykes, Henry Eickhoff and R. A. Leonard of Oroville must be confirmed by the state senate. But Rolph has the privilege of withdrawing them if he so chooses.

Old Agreement May Aid Doctor In License Fight

HASTINGS, Neb., Jan. 6 (UP)—Recourse to an old international agreement between Great Britain and the United States and legislative action to change existing Nebraska laws are expected to result from the fight of Dr. A. T. Harris to secure license to practice medicine in Nebraska.

Harris, now an X-ray technician at the state hospital for the insane, located here, came to the United States from South Africa two years ago. He applied for medical license, passed the state examinations but was denied his license on the grounds he is not a citizen of the United States.

Although Harris has made application for naturalization, he cannot receive recognition as a citizen for five years and until that time is technically regarded a British subject.

Harris has announced he will appeal from the ruling, taking his case to the supreme court on the basis of an ancient international agreement whereby Great Britain and the United States recognize the standing of scientists and permit them to carry on their work in either country.

The case has been taken up by the Nebraska State Medical Association, which has been urged by Hastings physicians, to seek legislation repealing the law under which Harris' license was denied.

German Opera Company Will Sing in S. F.

Wagnerian Operas to Form Repertoir During Brief Season

Flushed with enthusiasm and happiness over reports of the scintillatingly brilliant opening of the German Grand Opera Company's third American tour at Washington last Monday night, Selby C. Oppenheimer, who brings the big organization to the San Francisco Civic Auditorium for an engagement of five performances, commencing Saturday night, January 24, predicts for the brief San Francisco season of German Opera a success even greater than that which was registered last year when the company made its first local appearance.

"Goetterdammerung" was sung in the national capital Monday night before a distinguished assemblage, which included officials and outstanding figures in American life and members of legations representing practically the entire civilized world. Dr. Max von Schillings, the celebrated Wagnerian authority, was given an ovation in making his American debut at the conductor's desk. The composer-conductor, whose opera "Mona Lisa" was introduced to this country at the Metropolitan Opera seven years ago, and whose lyric and orchestral compositions are familiar to music lovers throughout the world, was visibly affected by his reception. His appearance as conductor will be the outstanding feature of the company's opening performance here, "Die Walkuere", although the occasion will serve to introduce interesting and welcome new artists in the persons of Marie von Essen, prima donna contralto, and Max Roth, celebrated baritone, in addition to Mme. Gadski and the supporting galaxy of German songbirds who won popularity last season.

The closing performance of the San Francisco season will be a duplicate of that with which the company's third American tour was launched in the nation's capital—"Goetterdammerung," with the exception that the golden voiced Margarethe Baumer will replace Mme. Gadski in the role of Brunnhilde.

Between "Walkuere" on Saturday evening, January 24, and the farewell "Goetterdammerung" on Wednesday evening, January 28, three very interesting performances will be sandwiched in—"The Flying Dutchman" on Sunday afternoon with Baumer, Adi Almoslino, Richard Gross, Laurenz Pierot, Siegmund Gronvelt and Max Adrian, with Carl Adler conducting; D'Albert's operatic setting for the popular old novel and drama, "Martho of the Lowlands", "Tiefland", Monday evening, January 26, with Mme. Gadski, Almoslino, Annette Royak, Ida von Barsy, Klarie von Kullberg and Messrs. Roth, Carl Braun, Hans Hey, Carl Hartmann, Gustav Werner and Wallace Buchanan, with von Schillings conducting; and "Siegfried" Tuesday evening, January 27, with Gadski, Annette Royak, von Essen, and Messrs. Gross, Sembach, Hey, Werner and Allan Hinckley, with Adler conducting.

Of these casts two leading artists, Miss von Essen and Mr. Hinckley are Americans, although so thoroughly identified with German activities as to be regarded as native artists there. Miss von Essen was born in Detroit, and her elementary musical education and early activities centered here. Her first operatic activities were with touring opera lyric organizations in this country and she was singing in Los Angeles with the Scotti Opera company when the opportunity arose for her to secure a hearing in Germany. She traveled direct from there to Aix La Chappelle where she obtained a footing, since which time she sang in all the leading opera houses of Germany, establishing herself as a favorite, and becoming recognized as a native artist.

MENLO PARK

Charles Kruse, a former resident of Menlo Park, passed away at his home in San Francisco last week following a brief illness. Kruse was a butcher and for years was employed by the firm of Blanchard and Mengels long since out of existance. The deceased has not resided here for the past twenty years.

Miss Carmel O'Keefe returned yesterday to Sacred Heart Academy on the last lap of her senior high school year. After grduation she will attend the college of the Sacred Heart in San Francisco, to major in music.

Edward McLaughlin has been awarded the contract by the postoffice department at Washington to carry the mail between the station and the postoffice. He takes the place of William Glynn. Young McLaughlin will fill the bill to the satisfaction of everyone.

Cadet Furman, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Furman, is here for a short visit to his parents, having arrived in the port of San Francisco last week from Australia.

"Paddy" Riley, widely known here for many years, was struck by an automobile in San Francisco the fore part of the week and severly injured. He was removed to the county hospital in San Francisco where he is making a brave fight for life.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Evelyn Taylor to a San Francisco businessman was made this week at a dinner given by her mother. Miss Taylor is a charming and beautiful young woman with a host of friends on the peninsula.

Thomas Ahern, who retired last week as general manager of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, was well-known and liked in Menlo Park where he at one time resided while superintendent of the Coast Division of the Southern Pacific. Ahern rose from a section foreman to head of the company for which he worked the greater part of his life. The young men of today could study the career of Ahern with much profit.

D. E. O'Keefe, Mayor Wheeden and wife and grandson, Fred Metcalf, wife and son, Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., and others who have returned from Sacramento, where they represented the Menlo Park Rolph club at the big celebration, speak glowing of the reception accorded them by the new governor, who expressed his appreciation of the good work done during the primary campaign for him. The governor received a two to one vote in Menlo Park through the efforts of the organization.

San Mateo county was well represented at Sacramento during the colorful celebration attending the inauguration of Governor James Rolph. All were heartily greeted by Governor Rolph who took occasion to thank the people of the county for the splendid support accorded him during the primary campaign. The county was one of fourteen that gave the governor a majority. With the single exception of San Francisco, San Mateo had the largest delegation at Sacramento.

At the banquet given to the mayors of the state, at which there were eighty present, San Mateo county had a section in the banquet hall in the Senator Hotel. Seated at the table were the following:

D. E. O'Keefe, Menlo Park; Mayor W. H. Weeden, Menlo Park; John W. Sharon, Mrs. J. Sharon, San Mateo; Mayor and Mrs. C. A. Buck, Burlingame; Mayor and Mrs. William Taylor, SanMateo; Mayor E. J. McGuire, San Bruno; Mayor H. Smith, Daily City; Mayor Jos. P. Quinlan, South City; Judge Cook, Belmont; Mayor C. L. Jordan, Belmont; Assemblyman Harry L. Parkman, Mrs. Burns, San Mateo; James P. Halloran, Belmont; Oda Faulconer, Los Angeles; Mayor and Mrs. Herman Michel, Santa Monica; Mona L. Christensen, North Palo Alto; J. C. McGovern, Coroner, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rainey, A. McSweeney, D. McSweeney.

Others attending the big event from the peninsula were Mrs. Elsie McGinn, who had charge of the Rolph Woman's clubs of this section during the primary campaign, D. F. Flynn and wife, Supervisor John Poole, Manuel Francis, Supervisor Rosalie M. Brown, Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., Fred Metcalf and wife, Chief of Police Harper of Burlingame, Thomas Byrnes, San Mateo, William Byrne and wife of Woodside, and numerous others.

Dominga Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Russell of San Francisco, has deserted high society to become a Dominican nun and has entered the convent of the order at San Rafael. The young lady, who made her debut a short time ago, is the grand daughter of Gertrude Atherton, the California novelist. The mother of the girl was born at Atherton and grew to girlhood there. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Atherton, lived at the old Atherton estate and there entertained lavishly in other days. The young girl spent many years of her life in the Dominican convent at San Rafael and became deeply interested in the religious life of the nuns. The beautiful story of Dominica Arguello, the first California nun, so vividly written by the grand mother of the postulant may have had a bearing upon the decision of the young woman to enter the convent.

Chief of Police Edward Farrell of Atherton appeared here Monday in his new gold braided uniform, the finest on the peninsula. Mr. Farrell is popular and will make an excellent chief of the rich municipality.

The rain fall for the present storm has been 1.29 inches making a total for the season of 5.09 inches as against 3.8 at this time last year. For the first time this season there was a small flow of water in the San Francisquito creek.

A nine pound baby boy was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Walrath residing on Johnson avenue.

Officer Harvey Huesties, who has been quite ill during the past week, is again back on the job of directing traffic.

It is understood that there will be twenty bidders for the Stanford park street work when bids are opened by the city council next Tuesday night. A low estimate should be received.

SPEAKING of SPORT

BY FRANK GETTY

By JAMES S. SHEEHY

"Wild Bill" Hallahan Hardest to Hit, Says Star

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 9 (UP)—The hardest pitcher to hit in the National League is "Wild Bill" Hallahan!

"The St. Louis southpaw is poison to me," Frederick said. "His left-handed shots are faster than Grover's, I believe. And he's just wild enough to keep you from getting set. On the other hand you usually can depend that Grover will come down the middle, or on the corners."

Then the conversation turned to other star pitchers in the National League. The Robins outfielder has considerable regard for Pat Malone of the Cubs.

"He's plenty fast and doesn't mind loosening up the hitters," he said. "And Burleigh Grimes is another smart pitcher who is tough to hit.

"How about Dazzy Vance?" he was asked.

"Fortunately I don't have to face him during the regular season for he has speed and a zipping curve."

Frederick is keeping his legs in trim by occasional rounds of golf. Frederick, who first played bush league baseball in Oregon and Washington, doesn't play golf during the regular National League season.

"It seems to affect my batting," he added. "I hit too many fly balls and they don't carry for enough for base hits."

SPORT BRIEFS

FOOTBALL SIMPLE GAME BACK IN GAY NINETIES

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 9 (UP)—Football was a simple game 40 years ago, in the opinion of B. F. Goslin of Hinton, Mo., a member of the first University of Missouri team.

That first year, 1890, the team had three signals. If the quarterback said "Play ball, men," the team got ready for a center smash. If he said, "Line up, men," the play was to go around left end, and if he said, "Play ball, boys" it was a right end run.

The university organized a team after a challenge from Washington University. Prof. A. L. McRae, to whom the challenge was made, organized the players and taught them a few of the rules. The uniforms consisted of tight canvas jackets and breeches, canvas shoes, black and gold socks, an a cap similar to those worn on the street. There was no padding anywhere.

Missouri lost the game to Washington, the only one of the season. The next year a full schedule was made up, including the first Missouri-Kansas battle, which was won by Kansas.

THROWING MACHINES MAY HELP SOUTHERN SHOOTERS

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 9 (UP)—Reinstallation of throwing machines for improving visibility is expected to add a considerable number of marksmen to the list of entrants in the $2,000 Mid-winter tournament of the Pinehurst Gun Club which will begin Jan. 19.

In the past the Mid-winter shoot has been one of the leading trap-shooting events of the country and is the outstanding winter competition here. Last year approximately 150 marksmen from 19 states competed, from Florida to California and Maine.

Preceding the Mid-winter this season will be the Pinehurst pedigree plan shoot, a match elimination event which will take place Jan. 16 and 17. It will afford practice competition for the big shoot the following week.

SHORT PLAYER SOCCER STAR

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (UP) — Charles Kullman, captain-elect of the University of Pennsylvania soccer team, is said to be one of the shortest players in intercollegiate circles. Yet Kullman was selected by every coach in the Soccer Association as an All-American player. Kullman stands 5 feet 4 inches and weighs less than 120 pounds.

Suzanne Asks "Big Money"

BERLIN, Jan. 9 (UP)—A fee of 50,000 francs for one day's play was demanded by Suzanne Lenglen, the famous French tennis player, for an appearance in Berlin. She was invited to play in a series of games with a number of other professional players. The negotiations have been given up since it was feared that even under the most favorable circumstances there would be nothing over from the receipts after Mille Leglen had received her fee.

Claim Midget Championship

NEWTON FALLS, Jan. 9 (UP)—Newton Falls claims the bantamweight football championship of the world. The Midgets, with no member weighing over 110 pounds, went through the 1930 season undefeated, scoring 210 points to their opponents' 35. Stanley Fink, of Missouri University, coached the team.

HAYNIE HEADS COTNER

LINCOLN, NEB., Jan. 9 (UP)—Roscoe Haynie of Omaha, will direct the destinies of the Cotner College football team for the 1931 season, according to announcement. Haynie's election to head next year's gridiron squad was made by Coach Sed. Hartman.

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Three Contests Today in Sequoia Basketball League

Favorites were upset Wednesday in the second round play of the Sequoia Union high school Cherokee Basketball League. Three more contests are scheduled for this afternoon in the local gym.

Led by the stellar playing of Harold Kniveton, forward, the Band and Orchestra trounced the Press club 20 to 4. The Press club was closely guarded by the winners and had few opportunities to sink baskets. Kniveton tallied 14 points to give his team their second straight win in the Cherokee League.

The Sequoia Block "S" ran up their second victory Wednesday when they nosed out the Yell Leaders outfit 23 to 15. Green, Perry, and Kennedy were the outstanding preformers for the Lettermen. Garcia and Pommes led the offnsive for the Yell Leaders.

In a close battle the Boys' Council defeated the Debate society, with Shine bearing the brunt of battle for the council. George Hoenck was the outstanding performer for the Foresnic artists.

Cherokees Will Meet Galileo 5s

Redwood City basketball fans will have an opportunity to see the powerful Sequoia high school basketball teams in action in the Cherokee gym tonight at 7:45, when they meet the strong Galileo quintets, contenders for the all-city title this season.

The Indian varsity has suffered only one setback and that at the hands of the Lowell high school heavyweights. The Sequoia 130's have also been defeated but once in their seven starts.

Wednesday evening the Cherokees varsity traveled to San Francisco, where they defeated the Saint Mary's frosh team in a preliminary game 35 to 16. The locals played brilliant basketball, with Bob Alber leading the attack.

Tomorrow evening the two Cherokee aggregations embark for Monterey where they clash with the Toreadors in a double header.

The tentative lineup for the Galileo contest as follows: 130's, Harris, West, forwards; Peri, center; Wohlken an dGraham, guards;. Varsity: LeRoy and Langbehn, forwards; Alber, center; DeLacy and Bugge, guards.

Commissioners Plan Visit

To study methods of government used by student officers in other schools, Sequoia Union high school commissioners are planning to make trips to other peninsula schools and possibly some in Oakland and San Francisco.

Palo Alto and Burlingame are the local schools likely to be observed for they have the form of student government most correspnding to Sequoia's. It is planned that all nine commissioners make these visits during school time to see how others' theories work out in everyday life.

The first of these is tentatively set for about two weeks after the end of this semester, a week from today.

Two new teachers will be added to the Sequoia Union high school faculty at the begining of the new semester a week from Monday to instruct the entering freshmen from the local grammar schools. Subjects to be taught by the newcomers will be English and home economics.

Mrs. Gertrude Hulme, English teacher, will do full-time work instead of part-time as in the past, and Miss Mary Cowden, English teacher, will return from a stay at her home in Dixon.

With the addition of at least 100 new students, made up of freshmen and transfers, Sequoia's enrollment will be close to 1100, making the local school one of the largest institutions in the P. A. L.

Indian Exhibit

Made entirely by Billy Dusel, sophomore, with no other aid than two woodcraft books, an exhibit of Indian articles has been placed on display in the upstairs showcase at Sequoia Union high school. Instruments of warefare such as spears, arrows ,stone hatchets, and knifes are shown with moccasins, a tom-tom, and beads.

Billy has made similar articles since he was ten, whenever he has time. The books he follows are "Two Little Savages" and a book on woodcraft, both by Ernest Seton.

Vice-Principal Has Vacation

Mr. Donald Bogie, vice-principal at Sequoia has had a week of vacation to make up for what he missed during summer. He worked in the office all nine weeks of the summer holidays, and made up partly for it he has taken an extra week away from school over Christmas and New Years. He will resume his duties Monday.

Former Sequoian Reorganized

Having an essay printed recently in the Literary Review supplement of the San Matean and the prospect of becoming an assistant editor for this paper, Miss Louise Bendeich '30 is making good in her freshman term at San Mateo junior college, reports indicate.

NEW STILL METHOD

RADFORD, Va. —(UP)— Add to the aleady long list of unique ways of opeating moonshine stills. Three miles from Radford, officers found two pits dug in the ground close together. One contained mash and the other fire, so arranged that the necessary fermentation was produced by heating the partition wall. The operators were not found.

TOWN MOVES FOR HIGHWAY

BARGERSVILLE, Ind.—(UP)—Bargersville has become the fastest moving town in Indiana since construction started on the highway through here. Nearly every house in the town will be moved to permit the straightening of the road. The job will not be difficult, however, as only 290 people live there.

3 FARES EAST

Southern Pacific offers a new system of 3 class one-way rail fares to many eastern cities. Now you will have more opportunity to match ticket with purse. Choice of fares, choice of trains, choice of accommodations . . . and choice of routes.

The classes are:

1

STANDARD PULLMAN. Same as present fares. Good in Standard Pullman cars on Southern Pacific's finest trains.

2

INTERMEDIATE. Much lower than Standard Pullman. Good in Tourist Sleepers. These provide regular Pullman berths, wash rooms and porter service.

3

COACH-CHAIR CAR. Most economical of all. Good in warm, clean coaches and reclining chair cars.

As an example of the economy of these last two classes, the saving from San Francisco to Chicago in rail and sleeping car costs is

INTERMEDIATE . . . $25.72
COACH-CHAIR CAR 53.47

All classes permit liberal stop-overs at important cities en route. Similar fares westbound.

Auto Animal Toll Runs High

SPRINGFIELR, Jan. 6. (UP).—The season for killing rabbits, pheasants, possums and even skunks is always an open one as far as automobiles in Illinois are concerned. Automobiles, according to the State Department of Conservation, take a heavy toll throughout the year of all classes of wild life.

Rabbits, probably because they are the most numerous and have a weakness for stopping in the middle of highways to stare into the glare of automobile headlights, are the heaviest sufferers.

Some authorities estimate that the death rate of rabbits on highways averages a "rabbit a mile" for every bit of the state's 9,443 miles of paved highways.

Pheasants are among the most common of game birds to be killed by speeding autos, although a number of quail and other birds also meet death by flying into a windshield, or the path of a fast-traveling machine.

Skunks and possums also fall before the speeding wheels of automobiles. They are valuable for their furs but their loss to hunters is negligible.

PORTABLE IN BROADCASTING

CHICAGO, (UP)—As a result of successful re-broadcasting of two-way radio communication between airplanes and the ground during the National Air Races here in August, the Federal Radio Commission has granted two portable "relay broadcasting" licenses to the National Broadcasting Company. The 50-watt protable may be moved about as required.

Family Tradition Maintained

MEMPHIS, (UP)—For the 68th consecutive year members of the Lee family, famous as Mississippi river pilots and boat owners dispatched a packet upstream shortly before Christmas carrying sweets, gifts and foodstuffs to rivermen and small communities north of here.

HIS JOB DANGEROUS

ANDOVER, Mass. (UP)—Patrolman Leonard Saunders appears to be the official demonstrator of the perils of the small-town policeman. Three times within a few weeks his traffic shanty in Andover Square was blown over by skidding automobiles. On no occasion was he hurt.

Taxes Lower; State Claims

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 6 (UP)—The burden of local taxation in California during the past year has decreased slightly, according to the state board of equalization.

In spite of complaints in many localities of excessive taxation records of the state board show that value of property taxed has increased faster than the taxes since 1928.

Calculations based on appraisals made in San Mateo county show the present actual value of all property subject to local taxation there is $130,983,121. The state total was set at $17,454,703,275 by the board.

The state total marks a gain of 3.2 per cent over the corresponding total of $16,131,847,561 in 1928.

Taxes on these properties has lagged behind the increase in value, probably to gratification of owners. Figures show that taxes on the properties increased from $291,868,308 to $306,752,050, or slightly more than 5 per cent.

The new state average tax rate for county, municipal and district purposes on each $100 of actual property value has been set at $1.757 by the board, instead of the $1.809 rate prevailing in 1928.

"These figures relate only to average tax burden and is quite different," the report said. "In the course of our investigation we have encountered numerous instances where the actual tax burden is greater than it has ever been before."

The report will be submitted to the state legislature when it convenes, to be used as a basis for studying proposed tax relief to property owners. With property now bearing nearly half the total cost of municipal, county and state government in California, strenuous efforts are expected to be put forth by farmers and those interested in real estate to have a portion of their burden lifted.

Radio May Halt Air Crashes

CHICAGO, (UP)—Local airmail and transportation pilots await with interest the result of experiments now being conducted by the U. S. Bureau of Standards which, if successful, will prevent airplane collisions. The proposed system involves continuous transmission of ultra-high frequency radio waves from each plane, providing automatic warnings within a radius of three miles.

Arms Meeting Faces Maze of Technicalities

Success, Experts Believe, Depends on Sticking to Elements

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UP)—The coming world disarmament conference must hew its way through a maze of technicalities and stick to elementals if it is to succeed.

This is the opinion of informed officials here as they prepare for the grand finale to the decade of preliminary disarmament efforts, which probably will be held in Europe early in 1931. Their view is based on contemplation of the myriad by-paths and blind alleys down which the preparatory commission has been led.

The elements of disarmament, as seen by officials here, embrace restriction of: one, Soldiers and guns; two, Fighting ships, and three, War planes. The draft treaty recently completed by the preparatory conference acheres fairly closely to these essentials. But at the real conference this draft may be abondoned and the brain-fag-troops, civil aircraft industry, agriculture and everything bearing on national defense may be begun again.

Stand of United States

The United States, it can be predicted with reasonable certainty, will fight to hold the conference discussions to real military and naval armament. Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chief American delegate to the preliminary conferences, expressed his impatience with the thesis that the weather, livestock, and terrain of each country, as these things bear on national defense, must be compared. He termed it "the fog, hog and bog" theory.

Even though the conference sticks to elementals, it will find troubles aplenty. First, it must choose between two methods of gauging armament: the direct method, soldier for soldier, gun for gun, or the budgetary method, matching dollar for dollar spent on armament.

The draft treaty provides for the budgetary method. But the United States and several other powers voted against this. They held the only way to compare armament is to stack gun against gun. These powers may oppose the budgetary method in the actual conference, although the State Department has indicated its belief that the two theories may be applied side by side.

Considerable Reduction

Granted agreement on a method of disarmament, the conference them will consider limiting or reducing armies, navies, and air forces.

Consideration of land armies and armaments will bring up several acute problems. Shall reserves be limited? The draft treaty says no. France, with 622,867 actives and 5,675,561 reserves, says no. Other countries with small reserve froces say yes. Shall countries with extensive factory systems, capable of conversion to wartime production of munitions and poisoned gas have this equipment strength? The answer varies in accordance with the possession of such equipment.

In the naval realm, the Franco-Italian dispute over parity is the most pressing problem, observers believe. Italy holds out for parity, which France is unwilling to grant. France is agreeable to equal strength in the Mediterranean, if she may have additional ships in the Atlantic. Italy replies France can easily transfer warships from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean if the two should fight. This localized quarrel affects the United States, Great Britain and Japan, all of which might have to increase their navies if these two began a building race.

Point of Friction

Many observers hold the Franco-Italian dispute must be settled before the conference begins—that it is futile to discuss world disaramament until this friction is eased.

The Kashington treaty, limiting capital ships among the five great naval powers, and the London agreement of three of them to limit Auxiliaries, will be written into the treaty, though the figures may be changed.

There still remains the naval limitation problem of the small nations. They, observers say, do not care how many ships the United States or Great Britain may build. But they are very much concerned over the sea power of neighboring small nations. National prestige is involved.

Observers find that military aviation is such a new arm of fighting, its potentialities so great, its limitations so indefinite, that to limit it is baffling. For years the preparatory commission discussed whether civil planes and pilots, as well as military, should be counted in a nation's air strength. In the draft treaty, they agreed to limit only the horsepower and number of military aircraft. Statesmen admit such limitation is imperfect; that civil planes undoubtedly can be put to military use. Yet no nation, apparently, is willing to block the progress of commercial aviation.

VETERAN POSTAL WORKER ENDS 175,000-MILE WALK

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 6 (UP).—David P. Martin, who entered the employ of the Federal Government during the first administration of President Grover Cleveland, has retired from the Lowell post office where he has served as a mail carrier for the past 43 years.

The veteran postal clerk estimated that he had walked approximately 175,000 miles delivering mail in various sections of the city.

Naturally

it takes more fuel to heat your home in JANUARY

— this is the coldest month

Naturally, it takes more fuel to heat your home in January. For that is the coldest month of the year.

So it doesn't matter what fuel you may be using or whether you pay for it monthly or at the beginning of the heating season, facts prove that during January you must have more heat.

With gas heating, you pay for the fuel each month after using it. Therefore, the logical way to look at the cost of gas heating is the average monthly cost or the total yearly cost.

Because we have no way of separating the gas you use for heating from that used for cooking and water heating, all gas consumed is shown on the same monthly bill. However, every one knows from experience during months when no gas is used for heating about what the bill for cooking and water heating will run. We suggest that you deduct the cost of gas for cooking and water heating when estimating the average net monthly or yearly cost of gas for house heating.

If the cost of gas is figured in this manner, it will be found that warmth and comfort with gas heating equipment is most economical. Furthermore, gas is the cleanest and safest fuel you can use.

Girl Scout News

Equipped only with a jack-knife, ingenuity and a knowledge of nature lore, a pioneer Girl Scout might be cast away on a desert island for a month and be none the worse for lack of the usual food and shelter. The jack-knife is not only easy to transport, but, if understood, it is adaptable to almost any purpose. With it, one is enabled to make shelters, to fashion down beds from boughs, to manufacture camp gadgets, such as towel and clothes racks, lanterns and caches, and, last but not least, to prepare and cook the variety of foods which a nature student can find in almost any country.

While the possibilities of being marooned on desert islands are remote for most Girl Scouts, they do have opportunities to put their jack-knife skill to use when they go on overnight hikes and pioneer trips. With the jack-knife as her sole implement, the Girl Scout cook can whittle sticks, planks and spears for her food. She can make an ingenious grille of leaves and bark. The twigs are woven in and out of a forked stick and are used for broiling steaks and chops. She can fashion long spears of green wood for cooking bacon, "kabobs" and bread twists. On smooth planks balanced at an angle over a fire of hot coals, she can bake fish or meat without losing any of the natural flavor, while her assistant makes two-tined forks from twigs and plates from bark, with which to set a dinning table of clean swept grass.

The jack-knife indeed comes in handy for everything connected with pioneer existence. It is indispensable for first aid, and in starting the fires so necessary to the camper's comfort. "Being Prepared", the motto of the Girl Scouts means to many of them having a knife that is sharp and shiny. For despite the improbability of desert island disasters, many live in hope that an emergency will arise making it possible for them to demonstrate the pioneer woodmanship.

Would you like to have a copy?

If you would just cut out the coupon—write your name and address—and I'll mail you a copy.

You may think that you know enough about the Money Sharks already and that may be the trouble that you do know too much about them for your own pocket-book.

Any how it won't hurt you to read what I have got to say and besides it may do you a lot of good.
